DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-7, drawn to a chip carrier for forming a chip module, classified in class 257, subclass 678.
- II. Claims 8-14, drawn to a method of manufacturing a chip module, classified in class 438, subclass 106.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the device of group I could be made by a materially different process. For example, forming the chip and the contact metallizations of the chip on the temporary substrate and contacting the conductive connection strands with the carrier film to the contact metallizations of the chip, and then remove the temporary substrate, instead of applying conductive connection strands on the carrier film and contacting contact metallizations of the chip with the conductive connection strands.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
